

OUR MEMBERS

There are 16 accredited Riding for the Disabled Associations registered as financial members of RDAQ.

They range from very small centres in remote locations to large multi-service organisations in metropolitan Brisbane. Most RDAQ members are independent, incorporated associations run by an elected management committee of local volunteers.

The majority depend on local sponsorship, fund-raising, donations, grant funding, and the incredible support of community members to keep fees as low as possible while ensuring safety and horse welfare standards are met. One has joined with a major disability support provider to offer a mixed funded model to clients.
